If you have a clunker sitting in your garage or driveway, you may be trying to find the quickest way to get rid of it in order to clear space for something new. You can scrap it for parts, try to get the dump to pick it up, or even turn it into a rusty piece of outdoor furniture.

But instead of opting for these costly choices, have you ever thought of trying to get some cash from your old junk car? Selling a beat up automobile is easier than you think, and may even give back more than you expected.

Here's Why You Should Sell Your Junk Car for Cash:

Free Towing

Yes, you read that right – most respectable junkyards don't require that you deliver the car to them on the spot. Instead, they will often bring their own tow truck and take away your old clunker for you. All you need to do is schedule a time and place, and leave the rest up to someone else. And since a towing service is generally extremely costly, this added bonus will save you a large chunk of money.

Money on the Spot

Trying to sell a car that is barely able to run, or that needs a serious amount of fixing up, can be a nightmare of long waits, unsure buyers, and people backing out at the last moment – and all of this will sure lead to some added frustration in your life. If you go with a junkyard service though, you will be presently surprised with the results – a quality junkyard operator will make you an offer on the spot, and will get you your money immediately.

You Get Cash in Hand

There is nothing worse than finding a prospective buyer who seems like a good bet, only to discover that they would rather make some sort of bizarre trade for your junk car instead of giving you money. After all, unless you want extra stuff in your life, you should only go with someone that is willing to give you cash.

That is exactly what a good junkyard service will do for you – instead of offering you a strange trade for your old car, they will put cash in your hand on the spot.

It Takes Almost No Time

One of the hassles of trying to get rid of your junk car is finding out exactly what to do with it, and the time commitment that comes with. You need to post a classified ad, search for a buyer, show your car to anyone that is interested – all while you could be doing something more useful with your valuable time.

Going through a junkyard service, though, guarantees that you won't be wasting your time on this potentially never-ending process. Instead, if your car still has value, you can sell it within a day and not have to worry about another step.
